

RACANELLI CONSTRUCTION COMPANY

Six Decades Of Building And Development Success Continued

For over six decades, the Racanelli family has been contributing to the growth and development of the Long Island region. In the early 1950s, the family's patriarch, Nicholas Racanelli, saw the need for commercial/industry property development on Long Island. Now, through the first, second and third generations, the organization has developed over 1,250 acres of commercial/industrial property and constructed hundreds of buildings occupying in excess of 13 million square feet.

The legacy continues under Racanelli Construction Company, Inc. formed in 1992 by third generation members: Nicholas H. Racanelli, Michael V. Racanelli, Richard M. Racanelli and Martin J. Racanelli, Jr. In 2010, their sister, Constance Racanelli, who initially joined the firm as its corporate counsel, formed a women-owned business enterprise, Con Rac Construction Group.

Still taking an active, consultative role in the company is their father, Martin J. Racanelli, Sr. These companies and a pre-engineered metal building division are constructing diverse buildings, including office/industrial buildings, retail properties, healthcare and educational facilities, storage facilities, hotels and restaurants, houses of worship, pre-engineering buildings and multi-family residential properties. These properties are located throughout the New York-Metropolitan region and along the U.S. eastern seaboard. Among the high profile Racanelli projects recently completed are: the Jacob Javits Convention Center expansion, a new YMCA, multiple Raymour & Flanigan Furniture showrooms, a Hyatt Place Hotel, the Atria Glen Cove Senior Living Community, a luxury condominium building, a state-of-the-art North Shore-LIJ Health System medical imaging facility, and a Community Synagogue.

These projects share in common the Racanelli hallmark of quality construction, achieved through a proven process of vision, pre-construction planning, project management and the provision of comprehensive design/build, general contracting and construction management services. To assure the highest quality, Racanelli employs a proven quality-control process backed by advanced technologies designed to facilitate optimum project management, cost-controls, on-schedule delivery, and worksite safety.

Across the region, the Racanelli brand is well-recognized. The company's principals enjoy strong working relationships within the real estate and construction industry, general business community, financial institutions and local municipalities; relationships built on their professional integrity, quality workmanship, and commitment to their clients.

The Executive Team, Standing: Nicholas H. Racanelli, Martin J. Racanelli, Jr., and Richard M. Racanelli. Seated: Constance Racanelli, Martin J. Racanelli, Sr., and Michael V. Racanelli

Racanelli also has longstanding relationships with many area non-profit organizations. This year, in recognition of its exceptional support to the Hospice Care Network, the Racanelli family was honored at its 22nd Annual Children's and Family Bereavement Dinner. Other charitable/philanthropic activities in which the Racanelli's are actively involved are: the American Heart & Stroke Association for which Nick is Chairman of the Board, Northeast Region, and the American Heart & Stroke Century Ride, a 100-mile bike ride, for which Nick is the co-founder. In this year's bike ride, the Racanelli team raised $160,000. The Racanelli's also have assumed leadership positions with the Brookhaven Memorial Hospital, Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, Nassau Community Medical Center, Southside Hospital, St. John the Baptist Diocesan High School and the YMCA of Long Island. Additionally, they have actively supported countless other organizations ranging from American Cancer Society, AHRC, Children's Museum of the East End and Contractors for Kids to Hope House Ministries, Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, Literacy Suffolk, Special Olympics and Tomorrow's Hope Foundation.

*Racanelli Construction Company, Inc.
1895 Walt Whitman Road, Suite #1
Melville, NY 11747
Tel: (631) 454-1010
www.racanelliconstruction.com*